INTRODUCTION

During 1988, Catholic Charities agencies provided social services to 2 million families and more than 7.8 million individuals, an increase of nearly 5% over 1987. Recipients of these services include victims of violence and abuse, troubled adolescents and pregnant teenagers, substance abusers, the unemployed, and persons with AIDS.

In addition to providing direct services such as counseling, food, housing and emergency assistance, Catholic Charities agencies continue to be involved in advocacy efforts for vulnerable people such as children, refugees, the elderly, and those who are homeless, as well as others who are economically, physically and mentally disadvantaged.

With the passage of the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, the years 1987 and 1988 saw Catholic Charities agencies heavily involved in activities to aid persons who entered the United States illegally. Information and legal processing activities uncovered how extensive is the deprivation of those who lack legal status. Responding to the human needs which legalization exposed put a strain on agency budgets, which is partly reflected in the increased quantity of emergency services provided.

The data contained in this report are taken from the responses of 141 diocesan agency directors. This represents a response rate of 90% of all active diocesan agencies.

I. PERSONNEL

In 1988 nearly 185,000 people contributed to Catholic Charities service and advocacy efforts. This includes paid staff, volunteers and board members. The vast majority of these are volunteers (73%) followed by paid staff (19%) and board members (8%).

Of the total paid staff, 55% are professional or paraprofessional service deliverers, 12% are in managerial positions, 12% are secretarial and clerical and 15% are reported as "other".

Overall the percentage of paid staff who are minority is 38.6%. This represents an increase of 6% over 1987 and an increase of 17% over 1985. Approximately 18% of the managerial staff are minorities. One-third of the professional service staff and 46% of the paraprofessional staff are minorities. Almost one-third of the clerical staff (31%) and 44% of the custodial staff are minorities.

Three-fourths of the total paid staff are women (75%). Over 80% of the service delivery staff are women. Two-thirds of the office managers and three-fourths of the administrative assistants and executive secretaries are women. Over 75% of the clerical staff are women. Over one-fourth (27.4%) of the agencies report women as serving as executive directors.

The total number of volunteers in 1988 was 135,683. Of these 55% were agency volunteers and 45% were parish level volunteers. Over 55% of the volunteers have direct contact with clients and 46% are specially trained for their volunteer service. Of the total number of volunteers 12% are minority and 47% are women.

The agencies reported a total if 8,675 corporate board members in 1984. Of these 11% are minority and 39% are women. In addition to the corporate board members the agencies report that 5,964 individuals served on advisory and/or professional review boards.

V. PARISH SOCIAL MINISTRY

In 1988, 71 diocesan agencies or 48% of all reporting agencies have a Parish Social Ministry Program. Table V.1 contains data which reflects the extent of Parish Social Ministry. Seventy-one agencies report that they sponsor Parish Social Ministry in 3,048 parishes. Another 39 agencies report that Parish Social Ministry is occurring in 1,330 parishes not affiliated with the agency program. Overall the respondents report that Parish Social Ministry is occurring in 4,378 parishes.

Over 90% of the agencies which report having Parish Social Ministry report that their programs involve both direct service and social action.

Of the 71 diocesan agencies who have Parish Social Ministry, 63% report that they have a full-time director assigned to the program and 23% report that they have a part-time director assigned to the program. Thirty-three agencies report that they have a total of 222 full-time staff assigned to Parish Social Ministry and 48 agencies report that they have 155 part-time staff assigned to Parish Social Ministry.

The services provided in a parish setting by over one-fourth of the reporting agencies are:

- education
- counseling
- emergency/crisis
- support

The issues addressed in a parish setting by over one-fourth of the reporting agencies are:

- economic issues
- abortion
- housing/homelessness
